a splash

TELEVISION star Rolf Harris made a splash when he opened a new Dive Centre in Birmingham.

He tried on a snorkel and flippers to promote the launch of the new purpose-built centre at the Lakeside Centre in Lifford Lane,

Kings Norton. The centre, which includes classrooms, office, hire facilities and a training pool, will be the national headquarters of Scuba for All, a programme designed to make inexpensive diving training available to everybody.

For £99, students can earn a Professional Association of Diving Instructor's qualification.
